A History of St. Paul A.M.E. Zion Church 1849-2014

The Founding and Construction of St. Paul A.M.E. Zion Church

Saint Paul was first organized in 1849 in the community of Egypt located in northwest Lee County, North Carolina (formerly part of Chatham County). The area was named Egypt because "the large crops of corn produced in the area brought buyers from outside as in the Biblical story of Joseph. The name of the village changed to Canawick in 1895. (Tilley) The area surrounding the church is noted for its rich deposits of coal and natural gas and is the site of several coal mines, and an iron works which supplied goods for local use as well as supplies for the Confederate Army during the Civil War. The original worship services at St. Paul were held by slaves under a brush arbor" an open-sided shelter with vertical poles driven into the ground and long poles laid across the top as support for a roof of cut branches or hay. In the seventen and eighteen hundred's, "brush arbors were often used for worship services by African American congregations before and after the end of slavery in the United States" (Hill). Because of its early beginnings, St. Paul is presumed to be one of the oldest churches in this section of North Carolina, preceding the end of slavery (1865), the incorporation of the city of Sanford (1874) and the ratification of Lee County by the North Carolina General Assembly (1907) though the church was not recognized until after the days of bondage when it could hold open and active service.
